

The Idea:

This year, the International Exchange Week of Psychology at the Leopold-Franzens-University of Innsbruck takes place for the 7th time and is scheduled from April 23rd to April 30th, 2014.

We, nine psychology students from the University of Innsbruck, invite fellow psychology students from various countries to Innsbruck to get to know our academic life, the Tyrolean culture, and the beautiful city of Innsbruck.

Our aim is to create an intercultural, social, and professional exchange between psychology students.

The whole exchange program is organized by students of the University of Innsbruck in cooperation with the Council of Psychology.

In the past, about 35 students from several universities around the world have taken part in this project. This year we would like to invite the same number of students again to come visit us in Innsbruck.

Our international guests will be hosted free of charge by fellow psychology students, who are also invited to take part in the program. The participation fee for each student is 75 Euros and includes all of the activities we have planned.

It is very important to us that also students who are in a financially difficult situation can enjoy this week-long exchange in Innsbruck.

The Program:

In general, the program is based on the following 3 concepts:

Professional exchange

- presentations on our department and the University of Innsbruck
- lectures held by our professors of the psychology department
- psychological workshops
- establishing international networks

Cultural exchange

- a guided tour through the city
- a hiking trip on the local mountains
- a visit to a theater/museum
- leisure activities depending on the regional offer (e.g. glacier-trip, high rope course)

Social exchange

- Welcome dinner (opening event at the university, including an open buffet)
- Pub-Quiz
- Running Dinner (a dinner where every course is eaten at a different host's apartment)
- „Exchange-Party“ and Innsbruck's nightlife
